HEAVY RAINS. BUT NO FLOODS HERE YET!

Soggy fields of Washington Township received another inch of rain during the past week, but experts saw no sign that last January's disastrous floods will be repeated—yet.

The downpour brought the season's total to 12.48 inches, still well below the 18.46 racked up at the same time last year, according to

EUGENE JARVIS, PIONEER, DIES

Eugene Jarvis, 75, member of one of Washington Township's oldest families, died recently on his ranch in Cochella Valley.

Son of Frank C. Jarvis, pioneer feed and lumber merchant, Eugene Jarvis graduated from Washington Hi in the class of 1896, conducted a hardware business in Berkeley for a time, then moved south where he entered the date ranching business.

The Jarvis yards here furnished lumber for most of the old homes in the Township, and shipped loads of grain and hay to San Francisco from their warehouses on the creek near Newark. Jarvis Road is named for the family.

Victor Perdomo Dies

Victor Perdomo, 57, a resident of 988 Second Street, Niles, died January 12 in an Alameda hospital. He was a native of Italy and has no known survivors in this country. A resident in the Township for the past 30 years, he was a partner in a bakery business in Centerville.

Services were held Wednesday from Beige Mortuary Company, Niles, with funeral mass at Corpus Christi Church. Interment was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Hayward.

Mill Roof Breaks

A rain-weakened roof in the Pacific States Steel rolling mill broke Wednesday, forcing the rolling mill to close temporarily for repairs. Mill officials said the shop will be back in operation Friday. No one was injured.

ARTHUR BIDDLE, 78, FOUND DROWNED IN NEWARK SLOUGH

The body of Arthur T. Biddle, 78, prominent Newark man and former chief deputy county tax collector, was found early Saturday on a mudbank in a slough west of Newark.

A coroner's inquest announced Wednesday listed Biddle's death as due to accidental drowning.

Biddle, who had been in failing health since an auto accident last May, left his home on Thornton Avenue some time between 7:15 and 7:30 a.m., while his wife, Etta, was taking a bath.

He was last seen at about 7:35 a.m. at the gates of the Leslie Salt works by Mrs. Flossie Pierce, who was driving to the Dumbarton Bridge. Apparently he had hitchhiked that far.

Mrs. Biddle missed her husband about the same time and started a search in the family car. She notified sheriff's deputies that her aged spouse was missing, and they joined the hunt in patrol cars.

About 10:30 o'clock two Niles duck-club members, Joe Pine and Les Stivers, starting to work on their boats chained to the bank on Newark Slough, noticed Biddle's body exposed on the mudbank by the falling tide. They notified the officers, who pronounced him dead.

In one of the skiffs, officers found Biddle's hat, with a set of auto keys in the lining.

Born in Iowa, Biddle came to Newark in 1893, worked for a railroad, and then entered county service. For years he was court clerk to Superior Judge W. H. Donohue. Prior to his retirement in 1945, he was chief deputy tax collector for 22 years.

Clearing skies were tentatively forecast for the early part of the coming week-end.

There has been no repetition of the cloudburst of January 11, 1952, when 3.28 inches of rain fell on already-saturated ground in 24 hours, sending Calaveras Dam over its top and silt-laden waters across the flatlands around Niles, Centerville and Newark.

Temperatures and rainfall for the past week, furnished by Citizens Utilities Company of Niles:

	High	Low	Rain

January 7	71	47	.08
January 8	70	57	.00

NEWARK BANK GETS $234,500 FIRST DAY

Deposits in Newark's new bank are fulfilling expectations, according to Vice-President Jack R. Greer of the Central Valley Bank, its parent organization.

Greer announced opening-day deposits in the branch at Sycamore and Dairy Avenues hit $234,500. He said they are continuing at a comparable pace, with hundreds of depositors now listed.

Manager Wesley G. Perry said today the branch expects to be in its permanent quarters in the remodeled old post office building "within 60 days."

Factory Buys Site

Purchase of 15 acres of land near Centerville for a future sheet-metal factory was disclosed this week.

The purchaser is Robert Williams, executive of Wellmade Metal Products Co., of Berkeley. Williams is reported to have paid $2500 an acre for the property, located at Blacow Road and Baine Avenue, on the Bettencourt Ranch just west of the new Visking plant.

The plan will make sheet metal for buildings and furnaces, but actual construction is reported five to 10 years off.

Hillview Burglary

Theft of a $385 television set from his garage was reported to deputy sheriffs this week by Joseph Eastep of 1167 Carroll Drive, Hillview Crest.

NOT SO FAST THAR! THAT'S PROTECTION

Unanimous opinion on any subject is rare indeed, the Centerville Chamber of Commerce learned Monday.

The occasion was a request by Dr. Merle Buehler to have the Southern Pacific Railroad fix its Main Street crossing, which the doctor contends is outrageously bumpy. He wanted the organization to write the SP and ask "that the holes be filled."

"No," objected A. E. Alameda. "That's the wrong approach. We should ask them to make the holes deeper. They're the only thing that slow down trucks now."

President William Clark assumed Alameda's objection was made in jest, and agreed to have the letter sent.

Union Sanitary District directors last week decided to spend $8000 of district money to insure sanitary service to future subdivisions and industries south of Newark.

Board Chairman George Coit said the district will add this sum to around $24,000 pledged by the Southern Pacific Railway to extend

Alameda Creek Flood Curbs Hinge on Final Hearing; Mission Fights Zone 6

Irvington Votes for Controls; MSJ: 'No'

Mission San Jose and Irvington moved jerkily along the road to flood control this week, as the hour neared for a decision on proposed Zone 6 in that area.

These milestones were noted:

1. A violently partisan audience at the Monday session of the Mission Chamber of Commerce voted, 37 to 26, against including the community and neighboring highland ranches in the zone.

2. The Irvington Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously to join Zone 6—and back-stopped its first choice with a mandate to the Mission-Irvington Sanitary District to assume flood-control duties if Zone 6 fails.

3. A third public meeting on the issue is scheduled for Warm Springs, Tuesday at 7:45 p.m., in the grammar school.

The battle-lines were sharply drawn in Mission. Opponents led by Michael Overacker and E. E. Huddleson argued for exclusion. Said Overacker:

"Subdividers will get most of the benefits. They should pay their own way. Mission San Jose drains naturally. If Irvington has a flood problem they brought it on themselves by filling the ditches."

Huddleson took county officials to task for what he called "trying to jam this down our throats at the last minute." He contended people in the area "haven't had time to form an intelligent opinion." The zone must be formed by supervisorial decree before February 1 if it is to get on this year's tax rolls.

On the affirmative side of the debate, Jack Prouty, Ernest Vaysse and Maurice Marks all stressed development of the Mission-Irvington region will be halted without control of runoff waters.

"Let's not stop on the threshold of a bright future," cried Vaysse.

Charles A. Russell, a subdivider, warned the County Planning Commission won't permit more homes to be built until drainage problems are whiped.

Marks told Overacker: "We're paying for a county road up to you in the hills. We're paying school taxes, although we may not have any kids."

But Overacker countered: "Any time a subdivision comes in, like Hillview Crest, it increases your taxes. We're not ready yet. Let's grow gradually."

W. W. Curtner of Warm Springs, sole opponent of the zone at last week's public hearing before the Flood District advisors, first argued for smaller zones to "equalize" tax burdens, then declared:

"We aren't going to solve this problem by being highlanders and lowlanders... This may be premature. Let's wait and try to educate people better."

Marks tossed in an amendment to hold up the zone for a year, then withdrew it. Thereupon Chamber members urged Overacker (Continued on Page 4)

Honor Nilesian's Kin

When President Eisenhower is inaugurated in Washington on January 20, the nephew of a Niles man will be in Ike's honor-guard.

The guard is Major Raymond Haars, USMC, 39, of Daytona Beach, Fla., nephew of Arthur Luedcke of 772 Second Street.

Maj. Haars served with the First Marine Division in Korea and was twice wounded. He is one of several combat veterans to be selected for the honor guard.

A second hearing will be held February 18, after which the commission is scheduled to make its recommendation on the issue to the Board of Supervisors.

Water Dist. Conservation May End if Zones Formed

The Alameda County Water District may divorce its conservation functions from its public distribution.

This possibility was raised last week as a sidelight in the hearing on formation of Zone 5 of the County Flood Control District along Alameda Creek, and again this week in public discussion of Zone 6 around Irvington.

W. D. Patterson of Newark, chairman of the water district, who also is head of the flood control agency's advisory committee, was answering queries from W. E. Bailey about conservation features of the Zone 5 plan. Volunteer Patterson:

"Directors of the Water District think maybe their water-conservation function should be taken over by the Flood Control District—if Zone 5 is formed—in the interests of economy."

And Monday night at Mission San Jose's Chamber of Commerce session, a water district director, Jack Prouty, hinted broadly that the district's 26-cent conservation tax probably will be absorbed by Zone 6 if it is formed.

The Water District was formed in 1913 with the original purpose of preserving riparian rights along Alameda Creek from encroachment by the Spring Valley Water Company. The district was granted

ADOB ACRES ZONE HEARING JAN. 21

The first of two public hearings will be held in Oakland next Wednesday to determine if Adobe Acres, west of Niles, is to be zoned against further industry.

The hearing will be held at 1:30 p.m. before the County Planning Commission in its Oakland courthouse chambers.

Hospitals and infirmaries: George A. Janssen, chairman; Clifford Wixson and Kent D. Purzel.

Buildings and estuary bridges: Wixson, chairman; Janssen and Harry Bartell.

Auditing and finance: Purzel, chairman; Bartell and Janssen.

Supervisor Stanley was named chairman of the board at the annual meeting on January 6 to succeed Harry Bartell who retired from the chairmanship following a six-year reign. Supervisor Janssen is the new vice-chairman of the board.

Newark C.C. Meets

Election of officers and explanation of Washington Township's suggested Master Plan will highlight next Tuesday's session of the Newark Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary J. S. Oliverira announces R. J. Wright, chairman, and John Jay Thomas, secretary of the County Planning Commission, will attend with outlines of the Master Plan.

Zone 5 'Last Chance' Jan. 23 in Pleasanton

Last chance for flood control in Washington Township during 1953 and 1954 hinges on a public hearing Friday, January 23, in Pleasanton.

The meeting will be the last scheduled by the advisory commission of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District.

It has been called to determine if the commission will recommend to the Supervisors that Zone 5 of the district be formed.

Last week Livermore cattlemen told the commission they oppose formation of the district. And their opposition "across the hill" scared Washington Townshipers out of going it alone.

However, W. D. Patterson of Newark, chairman of the commission, called the Pleasanton meeting with the explanation, directed at backers of the zone now."

"This is it. People have been after us for years to get flood control, and if they don't show up with a spokesman and fight for it, we probably will have to turn in a 'no' recommendation. In any event, we can't split the zone now."

The Supervisors must approve Zone 5 by February 1 to get it on next year's tax rolls.

Emergency work along Alameda Creek has been estimated by Engineer Herbert Crowle to cost no more than 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation. This clearing and straightening work, Crowle said, will control damage until Federal and State funds are obtained several years hence.

Patterson's statement referred to a meeting in Centerville at which only seven persons voted to form the district without Livermore-Pleasanton. Nine voted against it, and 14 abstained. Patterson said this was an "inconclusive" result.</p ways to be a friendly telephone neighbor

If yours is a party-line, your telephone neighbors will consider you a real friend if you'll keep these simple points in mind: Try not to tie up the line with lengthy conversations. That way you won't miss important incoming calls. Ask the youngsters to be considerate, too. When they remember that others may be waiting to use the line they're being good party-line neighbors. Always be sure you hang up properly after calling. These simple suggestions mean still better service . . . because they give every one a better chance to receive and make calls.

emergency calls may arise while you're on the line. If a telephone neighbor breaks in and explains the emergency, it's always thoughtful to hang up and complete your call later.

Washington High's hustling B team copped their first league encounter Friday night, upsetting a touted Fremont B five, 45-41, in a thriller on the Puppies' home court.

The game was a tight, hard-fought contest all the way. The half-time gun found the Puppies on the long end of a 29-27 score.

The final period saw both clubs concentrating on defense. Deciding factor came in the last two minutes when two Puppies, Gordon Agrella and Dick Arington, sank five out of six free throws, four by Agrella and one by Arington.

The victory marked the first for a Washington B team over Fremont cagers in several years. Agrella captured scoring honors with 18 points. Art Anchundo hit 11 for the victors.

Tomorrow night the Puppies face a strong Santa Clara B quintet on the Puppies' home floor, with tip-off scheduled for 7:30.

By BOB HIRD

Coach Clyde Voorhees' Husky varsity dropped its first league encounter last Friday night to the top-rated Fremont Indians, 67-45.

The Indians, pre-season favorites to cop the S.C.V.A.L. flag, started fast behind the brilliant shooting of forward Bob Ridgeway. They led 18-10 at the end of the first period. During the quarter, Ridgeway shot seven times from the Washington gym floor and connected on six of them.

The Husky quintet pulled up within four points of Fremont Indians, but the Indians, behind the shooting of Ridgeway, drew ahead again and led 33-23 at the half.

In the third quarter the fast-moving Indians sank 23 points, while limiting the Orange and Black to 10.

Both the Husky and Indian coaches substituted freely during the final stanza and the Washington reserves outscored the Indian subs 12-11, but it was too late.

Ridgeway and Jim Choate tanked a total of 46 points between them, each scoring 23. Allen Olk paced the Huskies with 14, and did a workman-like job on the backboards.

Other scores in the S.C.V.A.L. found James Lick upsetting Santa Clara 45-39, Mt. View besting Los Gatos 51-45, and the rough Campbell Buccaneers

BELLS DING WUHS CAGERS TWICE!

Varsity and lightweight basketballers from Centerville both tumbled Tuesday afternoon at Santa Clara before a potent pair of Bellarmine Prep fives.

The scores: Bellarmine As 73, Washington Huskies 49; Bell Bs 34, Puppies 29.

With stellar forward Dick Venecchia sinking 33 points, it was no trick for the Big Bells to lead 33-20 at halftime. Jim Cartwright tanked 10 for the locals. Gordon Agrella with 9 points topped the Pup scorers.

Mission Flood Row

Vivrette said he will report this to the advisors, adding however that they still consider the zone necessary.

Vivrette was unable to give concrete examples of what the district plans for the zone, and this drew fire again from Huddleson and other opponents. However the engineer stressed:

"We don't intend to build any gold-plated drains. Probably it'll mean cheap open ditches until valuations catch up. What's important is to get the zone on paper so we can tell subdividers what sort of rights-of-way they're going to have to leave for drainage."

He estimated cost of the program will not exceed 50 cents on the tax rate. Prouty stressed this probably will be cut in half if the zone takes over conservation functions now supported by taxes of the Alameda County Water District.

Vivrette said engineering studies are not complete because of "our small staff," necessary because of a 1-cent tax restriction on engineering costs.

Huddleson startled some backers of the plan by asserting after the vote:

"I voted against this thing, but I'm really for it."

At Irvington on Tuesday, the chamber headed Alan Hirsch's plea for active support of Zone 6, which the group had requested several months ago. This was granted.

Then Hirsch said a committee he heads will present petitions bearing 250 names to Chairman R. J. Wright of the Mission-Irvington Sanitary District asking the district to take over "interim" flood control if Zone 6 is defeated.

The Warm Springs meeting was called by Richard Johnson and Bruce Michael of the local Farm Bureau to air the issue in that area. They urged the public to attend.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Elwood L. Johnson, manager of the Arthur C. Day Implement Co., International Harvester motor truck dealer at Centerville, returned this week from Oakland, where he attended a sales conference of International Harvester Company dealers. Roy A Legge, Oakland motor truck district manager for the International Harvester Company, outlined details of a sales program planned to step up motor truck production in 1953 "considerably above the level of last year," Johnson reported.

NEW COMMISSIONER FROM PLEASANTON!

If Southern Alameda County gets another representative on the County Planning Commission, Supervisor Chester E. Stanley thinks he ought to come from Pleasanton.

Stanley made this statement last Thursday before the county Farm Bureau in Pleasanton. He previously had hinted at his sentiments in a meeting with the Newark Chamber of Commerce.

Stanley pointed out Pleasanton is unrepresented on the commission. Three commissioners' terms expire in February, and two of them are from incorporated areas which have their own planning commissions.

Directors of the Farm Bureau voted in favor of the proposed amendment to the County Zoning Ordinance setting up agricultural districts and protecting them from unrestricted building.

Dick Johnson of Warm Springs, assisted by Bruce Michael, expressed the bureau's views.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Dallas Paul, Harry Weber and E. A. Van Scyoc this week were named to present nominees for officers to the Centerville Chamber of Commerce to next Monday's meeting. George Oakes was appointed the chamber's representative on the County Centennial Committee.

SUGGESTS SAVING ARCHITECT FEES

Suggestion that the State standardize schoolhouse design, use State architects, and save an estimated $50,000,000 in the next few years was made Monday before the Centerville Chamber of Commerce.

Eugene Manning said he was following a resolution passed by the Delano Chamber of Commerce recently. Manning added "people here don't like the idea of these big architects' fees."

Allan Walton and Dr. Merle Buehler attacked the proposal as "socialism" and "standardization," but Manning persisted. However, the chamber itself took no action.

Lee S. Williams commented:

"If these new buildings in Centerville and Decoto are any sample, anything paid for architects was too much. They look like chicken-houses!"

Telephones: Niles 3261 or Niles 3271SEVEN AGAINST THE ODDS

Like the man who stepped in front of the Streamliner, we are still wondering what happened. We refer to last week's flood-control meeting at which Livermore cattlemen bullied Niles, Centerville and Alvarado out of the last chance to curb Alameda Creek for at least another year.

In our weekly news-gathering routine, we attend almost every civic meeting held in Washington Township. And for the past year, there hasn't been one where somebody wasn't hollering for relief from floods.

Now comes a chance to get that relief, and what happens? Only seven people care to vote for it. Seven people out of the whole Township. The rest of those who attended the meeting called by the county flood control district evidently were awed by the Livermore cow barons, because nobody gave them any battle at all.

Where were the paladins of the Chamber of Commerce? Why didn't they show up at the meeting armed with arguments to counter the self-serving logic of the landlords?

We heard a Livermore man boast how his group had controlled the Livermore meeting, and we can't believe the handful of landowners represents the sentiment of most folks across the hills. Our neighbors stand to benefit from flood control and water conservation too; they just didn't feel as strongly about it as the cattlemen did about increased taxes. The engineer blamed it on lack of education.

On this side, we like to say our future is tied to drainage and flood control. Our big ranchers want it, but they also want water conservation upstream for the dry months. That's fine, but when you're starving, if you can't get the whole loaf of bread, it's better to take half. Because Livermore won't buy conservation, are we to live with wet feet forever?

At least, that's how we thought the majority here felt, after listening to the talk during the past few months. We were confident the majority would be heard. But when the showdown came, how many had the courage to go it alone? Seven.

ANOTHER PRESS GAG

The United Nations must have been asleep when it presented a recent treaty to its members which would force them to issue official corrections of news dispatches which any sovereign power labels "false and distorted."

The treaty would give Russia, for instance, the right to get a retraction of legitimate stories about her war preparations, even though our Government might know the story was true. Or a monarch like Farouk could get a retraction of unfavorable yarns about his dancing girls by saying the dispatches were injurious to Egyptian "national prestige."

The United States is fighting the treaty, which must have been submitted for propaganda purposes. As we see it, if an error of fact has been made, an honest newspaper will print a correction. If the facts are correct, it won't, and no treaty should make it do so. Such a treaty would put a premium on propaganda, would hamstring truthful reporting.

We can't imagine what the UN is messing with such an idea for. It's an out-an-out phony.

LET THERE BE LIGHTS

This newspaper listened with interest while a State Highway engineer reported in public that 5,000 cars daily pass over Thornton Avenue en route to, or from, the main artery of Centerville. The engineer said this is all a 2-lane street ought to carry.

It was the same department that last fall refused a stop light at Thornton, saying the traffic doesn't warrant it. What gives? Just how much of a rat-race do you have to have before you get traps?

The State is going to make a Freeway "feeder" out of Thornton. Meantime the Thundering Herd grows bigger day by day, north, south, east and west at that intersection. Lights will have to be installed sometime. Why not now?

MYSTERY MAN WAS BORN ON ISLAND

Did you guess last week's Mystery Man? He was, of course, George A. Mays, manager of Niles' California Pottery works. Here is another puzzler: if you can't dope out the answer, look elsewhere in the columns of this issue of The Register.

He was born 51 years ago on a mountainous island just 60 miles long and 18 miles wide—an island that nevertheless supports 155,000 people. Its name: San Miguel, in the Azores.

At 18, he decided it was too small to hold him, so he came to seek his fortune in America, like so many other lads before and since. He landed in Massachusetts, worked on the railroad, and came West in 1921.

In Los Banos, our hero tried dairying for a couple of years. That grew irksome, so he came to Hayward, entered a business which was very popular indeed with some folks (and unpopular with others) at the time.

Our Mystery Man saw nothing unpopular in it, especially as it provided a better living than milking cows. He came to Niles in 1925, bought a similar business run here by Sam Tornelli. He is still operating the business at the same stand, by now a Township byword. Within a few years, the last obstacles to his operations were removed by popular consent.

He married a Niles girl in 1927, and they have two daughters and three grandchildren. During the depression, he thought several times he might have to leave, but always stopped short.

In recent years, he has made two trips to his home island. The place hasn't changed much, he reports, there's still no opportunity for a young fellow.

Traveling is in fact our Mystery Man's favorite hobby. But he finds it a trifle expensive, so most of the time he goes hunting or fishing instead.
